Marnie Stone lives a quiet life in Los Angeles with her teenage daughter. She works as an investigator for the LAPD. What she never tells anyone is that she is also a police psychic with a lot of secrets. When members of the legendary rock band, Heartbreaker, are murdered one by one, Marnie is asked to step in and work with Detective Benjamin Sinclair, an undercover officer. Together, they travel into the mysterious and often dark past of the band members and the people who love them. Can Marnie find the killer before another member of the band is murdered? Can she or should she fight her growing attraction to Ben? And why are the secrets from her own dark past suddenly surfacing?
