For courses in Freshman Orientation, Career or Self Explorations. Especially well suited for professional academic programs. One of the greatest challenges today's students face is learning about themselves-recognizing what skills and knowledge they have developed for their chosen fields, and finding opportunities to use those abilities in a career. This easy-to-use tool assists students in increasing the self awareness while collecting, managing, and organizing a professional portfolio. It also helps students understand the value of their skills and knowledge in terms of employment or graduate studies.
