American Photography 15 includes over 250 images by established and emerging photographers selected by an outstanding jury from more than 3000 entries. This collection, gathered from books, magazines, promotional publications and personal portfolios, offers an informed view of photography today, with images that range from commercial portraiture to art photography in both black-and-white and color. Although worlds apart, these images share in common the authority of an insider's experience -- and the unmistakable stamp of their makers. With its large format and striking design, American Photography is an exceptional reference for over 100 photographers, including: Harry Benson, Larry Fink, Geof Kern, David LaChapelle, Annie Leibovitz, Herb Ritts, and renowned documentarian Sebastiao Salgado.
