The examples you'll find in Social Work with Groups: Social Justice Through Personal,

Community, and Societal Change will help you to assist groups to gain a sense of empowerment and create change in their own lives and communities. You'll meet social workers who use hip-hop music to reach out to troubled adolescents, practitioners who blend traditional First Nations talking circles with other therapy methods, a retired professor who transforms the way her fellow senior living centre residents participate in their world, and fathers of children with spina-bifida who help each other through an online discussion group.
