Graphis New Talent Annual 2010 presents interviews with School of Visual Arts platinum-winning instructor Jack Mariucci, and Sal DeVito, whose students have appeared in the pages of the New Talent Annual since it was first published in 1998. It also profiles the Pratt Institute's Design Management program, the only graduate degree program in the United States that focuses on teaching business skills to design leaders. This Annual, as in the past, improves each year with the best student work in Advertising, Design and Photography internationally. All featured entries are Graphis Gold winners, and the instructors with the highest number of winning students are honored with the Graphis Platinum Award. With hundreds of full-page, full-color images, as well as detailed credits and indices, this book is an indispensable resource for enthusiasts and professionals looking for the best in fresh, new talent.
