This second edition of Readings in Macroeconomics presents a revised and updated selection of the most significant papers in macroeconomics, published by the acclaimed journal the Oxford Review of Economic Policy. The selected articles combine a high standard of analysis with non-technical writing, and are written by international experts in economic policy. Edited by Dr Tim Jenkinson, managing editor at OREP and a Fellow at Oxford University, the book includes material on: fiscal policy, exchange rates and monetary policy consumption and the balance of payments inflation and unemployment growth and productivity This breadth of coverage makes the book an ideal course companion for second and third year macroeconomics students. A companion volume in Microeconomics is also available.
