"Air" presents the latest in iconoclastic architectural design, featuring projects that challenge the current thinking on space-making, the urban environment and programmatic strategies for living. Among the world-renowned creative figures included are Ben Nicholson, Panamarenko, Rem Koolhaas, Zaha Hadid, and Ron Herron. Alongside these high-profile names will be previously unpublished projects by young, up-and-coming architects and designers. This fascinating work sheds light on how some of the world's most creative people respond to major questions concerning our quality of life.
