The office of DP6 was established in 1999 by Chris de Weijer and Robert Alwijnse after previously working at Mecanoo Architects. In their ten years of practice, the duo has developed a rich folio of work which are reflected in the 18 projects selected for this publication, the majority of which have been realised in the Netherlands. Alongside extensive documentation of the projects through colour photographs and technical drawings, the monograph provides valuable insights into how the practice analyses and develops its designs.
