Photographer Mark Liddell focuses on what is "behind the eyes," exposing the emotion behind each of his subjects. His signature style brings together what he sees as four essential elements: strength, sensuality, seduction, and soul. Exposed: 10 Years in Hollywood goes behind the lens of more than 100 photo shoots with Liddell and today's most sought-after musicians, supermodels, media darlings, and the Hollywood A-list, exposing it all with insider commentary from Liddell and his subjects. "I've seen the best sides and the worst sides of the biggest stars around," says Liddell. "I've seen them vulnerable, and I've seen them proud. I've watched them shed real tears, and I've sat through their temper tantrums. I've had to become a therapist and a best friend for a day. Celebrities were trusting me, and I learned very quickly that this trust is the most important component to a successful shoot."
