It has been said that time spent in the armed forces during times of war was 99% boredom and 1% terror. In the brave new world of Alpha Complex this is no longer the case, with the continued war against the commie mutant hordes, service in the proud uniform of the military can be described as 50% paranoid boredom and 50% sheer terror, a much more even and perfect percentile split, would you not agree friend citizen conscript? The Thin Green Line gives players the chance to experience the wonderful world of the Armed Forces in the world of Paranoia
