Sam and Shawn Stronghand aren't your ordinary kids. The fact that they're twins is only part of what separates them from the crowd. They're fanatical about the blackest of black metal. They're orphans. And, oh, they're also two halves of one fractured soul - one that used to belong to one of the fiercest Hell Barons in all of the underworld! The return of the brothers to their rightful place of power has awakened the most evil of evils - Satan himself - and when that guy starts to rouse, you know the angels are going to sit up and take notice! What will this mean for our enthusiastic metal warriors? And what's this about getting a second magic sword? It's hard to share when you're a Hell Baron of the Pit!
