Into the screaming inferno of the Russian Front were thrown the Tank Battalions of Hitler's Penal Regiments - men whose lives were considered expendable by the German High Command. And because they were treated like animals, they learned to live like animals - to steal and cheat in the manner of beasts - to fight, not only the enemy but each other - to die, brutally and bloodily...These were the men sacrificed in the Fuhrer's Russian Offensive...the men of March Battalion.
