In the writings collected in this book, the stories of gardening unfold in the full palette of color, and character, wild imagination, and hard work, fabulous growth, sometimes humbling failure. Filled with wit, warmth, a compensable engagement with the land in all it's moods and seasons, this wonderful book will see any start-up gardener or seasoned veteran through the most riotous summer of growth or coldest months of waiting and dreaming about what to plant next. Contributors include Michael Pollan, Anna Pavord, Jamaica Kincaid, Diane Ackerman, plus renowned garden designers Vita Sackville-West, Beverly Nichols, Ann Lovejoy, Tovah Martin, all sharing their experiences with passion and humor.
