On the marquee for cinephiles, word mavens, and sudoku addicts: a collection of puzzles that will combine all these passions. Start by solving the grids normally, using letters instead of numbers. The fun twist is that every answer word relates to the movies, including directors' names (Ron Howard), equipment (projector), and titles (Dr. Zhivago), plus terminology like "superstar." The 72 puzzles are all divided by level: Film Extra for complete beginners; Bit Player for easy sudoku; Up-and-Comer for grids of medium difficulty; Screen Star for hard ones; and Hollywood Legend for the real challenges.
