"Saskatchewan Book Awards Shortlist - Children's Book, 2007 CCBC's Best Books for Kids and Teens, 2008" After a surprise encounter with their old enemy Bull, Pierre and Dare are dognapped and taken to the big city, where they are kept with other stolen dogs awaiting purchase from an unscrupulous pet store owner. Meanwhile, the rest of the Prairie Dogs hop on a train to find their friends. They luck into a TV news van that leads them right to Pierre and Dare, holed up in a TV studio with their new puppies. Everyone's hungry-and they have to get back to Mr. Abrams. Then Dare has a great idea. Suddenly, the Prairie Dogs are on the air Sequel to Glenda's highly praised "The Prairie Dogs"
