This is the story of what happens when arrogance, lust, and misfortune collide. When Adam North began yet another business venture, he had no idea it would become a rising empire. He also had no idea that his chain of restaurants would bring him much more than a profit. And when Morgan Cohen, a young local high schooler, was hired as a hostess, the restaurant brought her much more than a job. While to the public, Hacienda was a palace of Mexican food and good times, behind closed doors, private tales of love, betrayal, friendship and broken hearts unfurled, leading to the dramatic events that would send shockwaves through the small town of New Haven and bring an entire empire crashing down.
