It's 1990's New York. Twenty years ago, NYPD officer Robert Mulvey faced corruption charges that threatened to tear his life apart. Now his young nephew, the much-decorated officer Stephen Holt, has been accused executing three men, including one cop. For these two men to save their careers - and redeem their family's reputation - they will dare to go where few officers have gone before: straight through the NYPD's fabled "blue wall of silence" to see that justice is served...
