At any moment, scores of violent conflicts are raging around the world. Extremist groups, ethnic conflicts, drug wars and border disputes operate at an unprecedented global level. In this age of the War on Terror, with interest in global issues at an all-time high, the "Hot Spot Histories" series steps in to fill the reference void of both background information and up-to-the minute coverage of global and regional conflict - in one accessible package. Since the end of the Iran-Iraq war in the 1980s, conflict in the Middle East has been increasingly wrought with internal struggles, driven by ethnic, inter-communal, and religious differences. Here, in-depth chapters explore the history and nature of the conflicts, the factors involved, and any steps toward resolution. The hot spots covered include: the movement for Berber rights in Morocco; Shi'a opposition in Bahrain; Iraqi civil war and internal struggle for power; Iran's interstate conflict with the U.S.; and Islamic insurgency throughout the region. This volume is a must-have for up-to-the-minute coverage of hot spots in one of the world's most volatile regions.
