Homebuyers and homebuilders are focusing more on 'right-sizing' their dream home instead of mortgaging their dreams away. "Today's Dream Home" targets three audiences: mid-to-late baby boomers who are down-sizing their homes

(approximately 40 million); readers who are actively looking for Green building methods for their next home and retirees who are facing fixed-income concerns. The author uses both how-to and descriptive methods to guide the reader to the right home for their needs.
