Elephants are better known for their astonishing feats of memory than for their ability to jump, but they are also physically agile. Amusing questions like the one in the title, as well as important questions, and even a few silly questions that kids are likely to ask are presented with answers that are surprising, intriguing and occasionally, mind blowing. aWhy is the sky blue?a and aWhat makes the noise of thunder?a both have solid, scientific answers. aWhat is the worst smelling thing in the world?a might sound like a silly question, but in fact, it has a good, sensible answer. And the question, aWhich animal is the deadliest in the world?a has an answer that will surprise just about everybody. Black-and-white line art on most pages.
