In 1941, Jane Pohl was a teenager that took a chance on an unpredictable and dangerous Army horse. Slated for death, Fitzrada was a small Thoroughbred with a nasty temper and a fear of the men that had abused him and pushed him too far. Jane pleaded with her father to save Fitzrada from destruction knowing that the horse had a huge heart and tremendous talent in the jumping ring. With Fitzrada as her mount, Jane became one of the first publicized female jumpers in history and rode the horse into the spotlight, winning 37 jumper and 6 hunter championships and competing at the esteemed National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden. Renegade Champion is an inspirational true story of a young woman and her horse breaking both records and barriers.
