A stunning and compelling portrait of two obsessed personalities and the perversely symbiotic relationship that draws them together.

Aurora Jeanine Johnson is an unwed mother from Savannah, Georgia, desperate to sculpt a new life-and a new body-in California. Spending every spare moment working out at the gym, Aurora hopes that her perfected body will give her the life of power and independence she wants. But training full time is expensive and Aurora is barely getting by-until she meets the man who will offer her everything she most desires.

Charles Worthington is a wealthy eccentric, rich enough to indulge his every decadent whim and fantasy. Aurora is his sexual ideal, the raw material from which he will shape his masterpiece. He will transform Aurora into the woman of his dreams-and fantasies-no matter the cost.

To achieve their common goal, Charles takes complete control of Aurora's life. He dictates her diet, her lifestyle, her training-and when and how much she'll take of the body-altering drugs he "prescribes" for her. He decides whom she sees and where she goes. And what kinky games of his own devising they will play.

For Aurora, everything that Charles asks is a small price to pay to become the woman she's always dreamed of being. Or is it?

Chemical Pink is a gothic and erotic duet that explores the boundary between obsession and pathology. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.
