A witty introduction to animal lives, this series uses bold and bright colors to attract and engage young children. Simple facts accompanied by humorous illustrations provide an introduction to the everyday lives of animals, and pages with foil add sparkle to the colorful artwork. Answering such questions as "What do sheep do?" and "What noises do sheep make?," this brightly colored book shows young readers the true life of a sheep--grazing for grass, following their flock, or being shorn to make clothing.
