Brash, bold, lingerie designer Honey Harlow doesn't believe in love, but she does worship at the altar of lust. In Paris for her new lingerie line, Sweet Nothings, she meets the sophisticated, suave French vintner, Etienne Marais. Etienne is at Fashion Week, looking for a new mistress--someone as sophisticated and worldly as he is. But when he sees Honey, he falls head over heels in lust. These two people, who are complete opposites, appear made for each other. As they fall out of lust and into love, they discover that love is the ultimate destination.
