With eye-popping illustrations and jaw-dropping facts on every page, these beginning portfolios of big beasts, crawly creatures, and man-made creations make perfect windows to the huge world outside. The full-color, life-like portrayals of some of the earth's most wondrous things--both past and present--are so big and exciting that young children and early readers will want to revisit them again and again. All of the bugs and spiders that make kids giggle and gawk are on display in this parade of little things made big. Each creature is accompanied by extreme close-up photographs, measuring charts, and life cycles indicators.
