A Guide to Proud Cultures in Decline

Once, before the fabled First Age, Creation was a far different place. The Primordials still ruled from Yu-Shan, and the gods wrought their masters' will from the Blessed Isle. In a time when humanity had yet to taste freedom, the world was ruled by other races, both mysterious and powerful. The course of the Primordial War wiped out most of these peoples, but two lived on under Solar rule, the noble Dragon Kings and the clever Jadeborn, though even then their decline had begun a decline hastened by the Usurpation. Will the return of their erstwhile lords and allies, the Solar Exalted, mark a return to greatness for these races, or are they doomed to finally fall during this time of tumult?

A character sourcebook for Exalted , Second Edition, featuring:

Everything players and Storytellers need to generate Mountain Folk characters, including their Charms

Everything players and Storytellers need to generate Dragon King characters, including their Paths

Examples of both races' unique wonders
