This is a new edition of a pioneering edited collection which offers a thematic treatment of the creation, consolidation and reconfiguration of the early modern British Atlantic world. It takes into account the latest developments in the field, including hot topic of transnational history, with two new essays and a revised Introduction. It includes updated guides to Further Reading to aid study. This text was the first edited collection on the burgeoning history of the early modern Atlantic world and has had a huge impact on the many fields of Atlantic Studies. This second edition features two new essays on science and global history respectively, as well as a revised Introduction and updated guides to further reading.
