This title provides up-to-date information on the major and minor players affiliated with terrorism networks in the Middle East. Spanning from 1950 to 2008, "The Terrorist List" alphabetically compiles key names, affiliates, and masterminds behind major or minor terrorist acts or attempts in the Middle Eastern region. Whether playing a role as a leader, conspirator, defendant, financier, detainee, or person of interest, this easy-to-use set covers the vital names associated with terrorism, providing a robust compilation on international terrorism. 'Connecting the dots' on key individuals involved in international terrorism is harder than pundits and armchair analysts would have you believe. This set gives the reader a public domain sample of the colossal amount of information terrorism analysts must sift through each day in their efforts to stop the next attack. Drawing upon 35 years of research, "The Terrorist List" provides information on terrorists mentioned in the author's earlier chronologies, plus materials culled from al Qaeda in Iraq personnel files.
