The New York Times bestseller from "the only person I know who can actually yell in print form" (Jon Stewart).

Lewis Black, the biting funny comedian, social critic, and bestselling author comes up with some answers to questions about faith. Or at least his answers. In more than two dozen essays that investigate everything from the differences between how Christians and Jews celebrate their holidays, to the politics of faith, to the individual search for transcendence, Black irreverently and hilariously explores his unique odyssey through religion and belief.

"Why not a religion based solely on the laugh? It would be a stroke of genius."
幽默感是最治愈的良药, 毕竟"Life's a bitch and then you die."
