Berlin is undeniably an important location for German architecture, and it is becoming difficult to keep track of the number of architects in the city. This volume presents a selection of more than 60 noted architects who are members of the BDA Berlin, introducing readers to their architectonic positions, latest works and projects, and competition successes. In addition to essays on the creation and positioning of building culture in everyday life, the publication also elucidates questions concerning architectonic reconstruction and current trends in architecture. Finally, the yearbook offers a look back at BDA activities over the past three years.
