Written by a pre-teen author, "Of Trouble and Trickery" unfolds the story of Heather Doung, fifth-grade vulpine who, in her class, starts full-scale rivalry against a traitor and a mathematician. To make matters worse--and better--the rest of the class get into trouble of their own, shooting elastic bands and bribing each other to be spies. Heather never planned for it to become so large, but now that it is, she must to cling to one thought...expect the unexpected...and win the rivalry.
