

I Need a Computer...What Now? The Complete Guide for First-Time Computer Buyers

I Need a Computer...What Now? The Complete Guide for First-Time Computer Buyers_下载链接1

著者:Ford, Jr., William

出版者:

出版时间:2006-4

装帧:

isbn:9781424133970

Born in Northern Virginia, William Ford has had a relationship with computers since 1985. William worked as a computer sales associate and as a parts specialist in the early 1990s and later as a technician and is currently a consultant and technical assistant to the Appomattox County Library. William went to school in Fairfax County, Virginia, and acquired training in computer sales and services from CompUSA and Best Buy. He is a self-taught computer technician and earned several certifications from Brainbench.com in 2001, including Windows administration and networking. Currently he runs an on-site computer repair service in Appomattox, Virginia. William has designed and built many computer systems including a model which was designed for long time friend, Daniel Cieplinski, as a film and video editing system for professional filmmaking. William's desire is to make technology easier to understand so everyone can take advantage of the technological advances of our age.

作者介绍:

目录:

I Need a Computer...What Now? The Complete Guide for First-Time Computer Buyers_ 下载链接1

标签

评论

I Need a Computer...What Now? The Complete Guide for First-Time Computer Buyers_ 下载链接1

书评

I Need a Computer...What Now? The Complete Guide for First-Time Computer Buyers 下载链接1