"The Journey of the Terminally Ill" will take you into the lives of those dying of a terminal illness. You will walk with them through their journey for the last days or months of their lives. These are heartfelt, emotional stories as you witness the disease take over the human body and the physical changes that go along with that. The emotional and spiritual struggles of these people are incredible as they try to prepare themselves and those that love them for their impending death. You will see the strength of the human spirit, and realize what truly matters in life. One by one the stories and those lives will come to an end, and tears will be shed. Come along on this journey as it is told through the experiences of a hospice nurse as she cares for the dying and their loved ones on a daily basis.
