Fifteen years ago, a phenomenon called "The Spark" created four superhumans who sacrificed themselves to stop an world-wide cataclysm. Now, The Spark has happened again, creating a new generation of heroes. As three heroes emerge to accept their responsibility of as protectors of humanity, everyone wonders, where's the fourth? Lucas would save the world, but he has other problems - school, his supermarket job to help his mom with the bills and a little sister who's more than a handful. But when an alien horde arrives to enslave the planet, does Lucas leave his family to save the earth? What's a hero to do?
