The aliens' plan is simple: abduct four Earthlings and juice them up on pheromones. Then plop them in a variety of titillating holographic scenarios and market the results as X-rated entertainment-for vast profits. The four humans are strangers to each other, but not to life's disappointments. Leandros, a lounge singer who's never committed to anything longer than an Elvis medley. Eve, an interior designer whose life is too beige. Beau, a mechanic who wants to change more than oil. Cassandra, a debutante who's learned about sex from self-help books. As unwilling-okay, sort of willing-stars of the aliens' budding intergalactic porn empire, the four consider their options. Enjoy the ride? Try to escape? Fall in love?
