Mario Cucinella is one of the new-generation highly regarded architects, and the 21 projects chosen for this monograph on his work and firm, MCA Architects, include all his completed works, those under construction and a selection of on-going projects. His work stands out for both its quantity and quality. By presenting Cucinella's projects as a work-in-progress rather than a list of individual buildings, the book highlights his experimental approach and focuses on the technical features of his architecture.
