A teaching Angel with a wry sense of humor suddenly appears to Mary, a woman in dire straits and considering suicide. His appearance has been planned with his superiors and buddies-in-training. These Angels are a part of an immense core of Angels assigned to teaching on Earth during Earth's time of need for drastic measures. Their plan is to branch out to Mary's group of friends, all of whom are questioning, "What is it all about?" and subconsciously asking for help. Through a coincidence, all of the group are brought together for the teaching. The story brings them all, individually, through their daily problems and helps to resolve their various dilemmas, while allowing them freedom of choice.
