She opened the book with the thought in mind that the remedy was finally here. She thumbed cautiously through the content exploring one damp page after another until she developed a sense that gave meaning to her purposea]. First of all, I informed her of aThe Tainted One.a Secondly, I shared with her aMy Pain.a Thirdly, I asked her, aWhat Have I Done?a Finally, she read aThe Last Poem.a She closed the book just after collapsing aimlessly by a window that overlooked the yard. I noticed a tear fall from her eyea]and then I noticed another. I joined her as she wept. She looked at me timidly as she gathered herself. aWhat was this?a she asked. I told her it was The Weeping Pagesa].
