There is excellent saltwater fishing on the entire southern California coastline from Point Arguello, north of Santa Barbara, down through San Diego County and the Mexican border. Author Jeff Spira covers the entire coast including the Channel Islands, Catalina, and the Outer Banks. He also covers Mexico s Islas de Coronado. Jeff gives thorough descriptions of the best fishing with charts showing the best times of year to target each major species. There are also over 50 maps. Jeff covers the best tactics, bait, and lures of each species of saltwater fish. He also covers fishing the kelp beds and surf fishing, along with shallow-water and deep-water fishing. Jeff covers more than 45 species of game fish, including yellowtail, bonito, calico bass, halibut, barracuda, rockfish, and many others. The Saltwater Angler's Guide to Southern California will give both beginning and experienced saltwater anglers the details they need to successfully fish southern California's great saltwater areas.
