Soundprints, together with the Smithsonian Institution, fosters at the earliest age an appreciation and understanding of wildlife and habitats so that children will grow to respect nature and the environment as adults. The Smithsonian Oceanic Collection explores the creatures that live in our oceans and on the shores. Smithsonian's Backyard gives children a glimpse of the lives of animals that live right outside their own homes.- Read-along audiocassettes enhanced with music, natural sound effects, and page-turning tones.- Toys authenticated by Smithsonian Institution curators for realism.
