Should dreams come true? Nicole Legere spent her childhood wishing she'd been born normal instead of First Daughter to the most powerful psychic on the planet. After dreaming about a killer targeting women in Atlanta, Nicole goes to Carter Jackson to warn him. But Jax, a successful cop, relies on what he can see not on the mumbo-jumbo of a psychic. But when the first body is found, he has two choices: believe in Nicole's visions or consider her the guilty one. To stop a killer, they join together embracing their differences and finding love while Nicole wrestles with her gift and Jax wrestles for his growing love for the pretty psychic.
