This is a practical guide for students; an insight into their hospital preregistration training. It is one of the RPS "Tomorrow's Pharmacist" series. The proposed text aims to provide a practical explanation for undergraduates and preregistration trainees on what to expect from a hospital preregistration training programme. The text uses an informal writing style and is based on tips, hints, past experiences and anecdotes from the authors in their roles as preregistration tutors. The experiences are from a district general hospital and a large teaching hospital perspective.
