This new entry in the popular series that includes Art School, Science School, and Nature School offers children a fun introduction to the world of theatre and film. Award-winning author/illustrator team Mick Manning and Brita Granström pack the book with great ideas for every aspect of a production, from developing acting skills with games and what to do about forgetting lines, to creating snazzy costumes and sets to wow the audience. Clear, step-by-step instructions and colorful illustrations show how to portray a stage fight; put on a puppet show; make scenery, props, and costumes; design posters and tickets; and much more.
