1915. This book endeavors to set before amateurs who are doing their own producing a series of costumes and scene sets that can easily be copied for plays, pageants, masques or festivals in which adults and children take part. Costumes for children's plays are specially pictured since there is no costume book for children extant. Both children and adults will find costumes and scene designs covering the range of this historical play, the folk play, the fairy play and the play of fantasy. By following the designs in this book any American Historical Pageant may be completely costumed.
