Flamboya includes over fifty recent photographs taken across Africa—from Cape Town to Kenya to Zambia—that disregard traditional boundaries of genres and tackle the problematic bond between photography, imperialism, and the colonial imagination. Viviane Sassen’s aesthetic vocabulary suggestively recalls documentary as much as staged photography and relies on a visual economy that invites the formulation of multiple interpretations. Seen through Sassen’s lens, the ethnic Other interrogates the traditional nexus laid between vision, knowledge, and power, which lies at the heart of the history and ideology of photography.

作者介绍:

Born in 1972 in Amsterdam, Viviane Sassen has studied Art History in Arnhem and specialised in photography and fashion. Her pictures have been shown in many solo and group exhibitions and she has worked with various magazines. Dutch Art Curator Moses Isegawa (born August 10, 1963 in Uganda) is the pseudonym for Sey Wava, a Ugandan author. He worked as a history teacher before leaving for the Netherlands in 1990. He is the author of Abyssinian Chronicles and Snakepit. He resided for more than 15 years in Beverwijk, a small town near Amsterdam. In 2006 he returned to Uganda.

好东西啊啊啊

评论

草，也太好了吧！

Viviane Sassen 大量用黑人的模特，而且她“too arty”的風格，模特怪異的姿勢總是讓人很難相信這是時尚攝影。她的照片有強烈的陰影和高純度的色彩，不難想像這是受童年在非洲的三年的影響。而且她避免人物的面部也使對象比起模特更作為一種象徵。她對待人物跟對待雕塑似的。這本書的內頁設計很特別，寬度不一的頁面使兩背面的照片和當前的照片一起作用，使得整個感覺更加怪異，這種設計也符合她的攝影風格。

片子甚好，装帧排版印刷亦简单考究
