Nothing is more stressful than a home of chaos a place where disorder, bad manners, or disharmony rules. While we all have our days when we feel that this is our plight, have no fear it can change Join Anitra Kerr as she demonstrates how to look beyond the repetition of your everyday affairs and to enjoy the often-mundane tasks that are set before you. Learn organizational strategies and skills that will teach you everything from organizing your pantry and utilizing your food storage, to a system to get everyone in your home involved in household chores. Now, take a deep breath, because you are on your way to simply living smart every day
