In this charming " Magic Movers " book, Clara and Oliver are having a tea party. Pull the tab that is attached to the illustration of their one party table and the image changes to become two party chairs. The numbers of objects in the pictures that follow keep increasing, all the way up to ten. When toddlers pull the tabs on the right-hand pages of " Magic Movers " books, a bright and cheerful picture is magically transformed into a brand-new image. Very young children will learn to recognize and name toys, foods, familiar household objects, and pet animals. They all also learn to identify shapes, colors, and numbers. Each pull-tab operates a Venetian-blind-style sliding slat for instance, transforming a toy giraffe into a toy zebra. The easy text that accompanies every illustration is just right for reading aloud to toddlers.
