"Catch the Hottest New Puzzle Craze!"

Can you KenKen? This international sensation from Japan, invented by an educator, starts each week with easy puzzles, which become progressively harder to challenge even the most seasoned puzzle-solver. KenKen means "cleverness squared" and that's what it is-logic plus math. Once you start, you cannot stop.

Presented by acclaimed puzzle master Will Shortz, KenKen is syndicated in newspapers and magazines worldwide, including "The New York Times" (the only puzzle ever to run with the crossword), "Reader's Digest," "The Boston Globe," "The Detroit Free Press," and the list is growing daily!
