Reason vs. control, good vs. evil, right vs. wrong are all played out in the life of Jason OaNeal. Jason is an average eighteen-year-old with above-average ideals. He examines his life and decides to sacrifice it all for the chance to change the world and save reason. After a global economic meltdown, a new government called The Federation becomes Jasonas antagonist. But is Jason really the protagonist? This bridge between 2008 and a future dystopia, such as Brave New World or Fahrenheit 451, is treacherous and unpredictable and, ultimately, will make readers question their own perception of good.
