This is the inside story of the more than 80,000 recent US college graduates who have joined Teach for America and committed two years of service to teaching in the nation's most troubled schools. Lessons to Learn showcases the insights of a wide range of individuals with real-life expertise, combining interviews and essays from TFA corps members and alumni as well as principals, superintendents, parents and noted education experts. Current and former TFA members reflect on their teaching successes and failures, the life lessons they gathered along the way and their insights about the challenges facing US public schools. Education professionals and other experts help to establish the broader context of the fight for meaningful education reform.
